

Solutions Architect

We're looking for an experienced Solutions Architect to lead our engineering team. You will be responsible for the following:

- Architect and lead the construction of high-quality, mobile first, responsive web applications.
- Maintain existing software applications and assist with long-term roadmaps and strategy.
- Work closely with clients as well as other key project stakeholders to perform requirements gathering, feature analysis, specification definition and build strategies.
- Have a mastery of source-control systems. Git and SVN are a must.
- Lead teams in building high-quality e-commerce and content-management systems.
- Work closely with our UX/Design teams to build pixel-perfect websites from comps and wire-frame documentation.

You should be more than a programmer and more than a manager. You should be a true software engineer who enjoys analyzing problems, developing solutions and leading a team of developers in crafting applications with elegant, compelling user experiences. You will support the team by writing clear, concise code using modern tools and frameworks.

What you need to know for this position:

- React
- AngularJS
- NodeJS / NPM
- SASS / CSS
- HTML5 / JS / jQuery
- Git / Git Flow
- Bootstrap, Foundation
- Bower, Gulp

Additional technologies we use:

- PHP
- Ruby / RoR
- .NET C#
- Jenkins
- Express
- A variety of other modern frameworks and front-end languages

Your qualifications:

- Strong grasp of software design principles
- Proficient in the development of mobile-friendly web applications and sites
- Ability to organize projects in a clean, easy to maintain and modular fashion
- Ability to collaborate with the team on web and mobile application features and visualizations
- Ability to write maintainable code
- Experience using open source tools or frameworks
- Experience working with offshore engineering teams
- A degree in computer science or software engineering

What's in it for you:
